Circuits for Motivation and Happiness

Sen Song

School of Medicine, Tsinghua University, China

Email of Presenting Author: sen.song@gmail.com

Recently models of reinforcement learning and decision making have received a lot of attention. But the concept of reward in such models is rather simplified. In this talk, we will describe the neural circuits underlying motivation and their relationships with circuits related to emotions and propose a modeling framework to unite such circuits with models of reinforcement learning.